For whom it may concern,

Loris Vial has done a summer internship at TOTAL Oil Trading under my supervision. During this internship, he has developed a tool to monitor the market prices. Loris had no IT skills when he arrived but his hard work and enthusiasm have enabled him to deliver a good working tool that we still use nowadays. Loris showed good maturity despite his young age and curiosity towards the way TOTAL Oil Trading is organized. I am confident that all these qualities will prove useful in the future and I would recommend Loris to any company.
